1 Why choose this syllabus?

Key benefits

Cambridge IGCSE is the world's most popular international qualification for 14 to 16 year olds, although it can be taken by students of other ages. It is tried, tested and trusted.

Students can choose from 70 subjects in any combination – it is taught by over 4500 schools in over 140 countries.

Our programmes balance a thorough knowledge and understanding of a subject and help to develop the skills learners need for their next steps in education or employment.

Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama provides opportunities for learners to develop practical skills in performance, both as an individual and within a group. Learners will understand the artistic choices made by actors, directors and designers in presenting performances for an audience. They will also learn about theatrical styles and genres. Learners will explore how to develop their own ideas in creating original drama.

Our approach in Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama encourages learners to be:

confident, developing practical skills to deliver dramatic performance for an audience responsible, developing shared responsibility working with others and understanding the power of drama to engage, influence and persuade reflective, engaging with performance processes, and using them to inform future practice innovative, creating original dramatic work and formulating imaginative responses to existing repertoire engaged, developing their enjoyment of drama to support their practical, intellectual and artistic growth.

School feedback: 'The strength of Cambridge IGCSE qualifications is internationally recognised and has provided an international pathway for our students to continue their studies around the world.'

Feedback from: Gary Tan, Head of Schools and CEO, Raffles International Group of Schools, Indonesia

International recognition and acceptance

Our expertise in curriculum, teaching and learning, and assessment is the basis for the recognition of our programmes and qualifications around the world. The combination of knowledge and skills in Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama gives learners a solid foundation for further study. Candidates who achieve grades 9 to 4 are well prepared to follow a wide range of courses including Cambridge International AS & A Level Drama (9482).

Cambridge IGCSEs are accepted and valued by leading universities and employers around the world as evidence of academic achievement. Many universities require a combination of Cambridge International AS & A Levels and Cambridge IGCSEs or equivalent to meet their entry requirements.

UK NARIC*, the national agency in the UK for the recognition and comparison of international qualifications and skills, has carried out an independent benchmarking study of Cambridge IGCSE and found it to be comparable to the standard of the GCSE in the UK. This means students can be confident that their Cambridge IGCSE qualifications are accepted as equivalent to UK GCSEs by leading universities worldwide.

* Due to the United Kingdom leaving the European Union, the UK NARIC national recognition agency function was re-titled as UK ENIC on 1 March 2021, operated and managed by Ecctis Limited. From 1 March 2021, international benchmarking findings are published under the Ecctis name.

3 Subject content

Drama is a practical subject. Learners should pursue a skills-driven course that allows them to develop their ability to perform effectively in a dramatic production for the stage.

This syllabus gives you the flexibility to design a course that will interest, challenge and engage your learners. Where appropriate you are responsible for selecting suitable topics and subject contexts, resources and examples to support your learners' study. These should be appropriate for the learners' age, cultural background and learning context as well as complying with your school policies and local legal requirements.

Both group and individual acting skills will be developed using two fundamental approaches, which together form the core of this syllabus:

- the process of moving from script to performance using extracts from published plays
- the process of devising and performing original drama from a stimulus.

From script to performance and Devising from a stimulus

There are several overlaps between moving from script to performance using published plays and devising an original drama from a stimulus. In both processes, learners should take an integrated approach to the creation and staging of dramatic performance. This means that teachers and learners should consider the contribution of actors, directors and designers to the interpretation and shaping of dramatic material.

The content listed under the headings 'Elements of practical drama', 'Performance skills' and 'Staging and design' are fundamental to both moving from script to performance and devising original drama. Content specific to each approach is provided under the headings 'From script to performance' and 'Devising original drama from a stimulus'.

From script to performance and Devising from a stimulus

Elements of practical drama

Candidates should be able to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

- key practical drama concepts such as:
 - structure and plot
 - characterisation and role
 - dialogue
 - physicality
 - pacing
 - contrast and dynamics
 - tension
 - spatial awareness and proxemics
- how actors, directors and designers respond to different styles and genres of drama
- how choices made by actors, directors and designers can affect performances and audience responses
- how actors, directors and designers work within constraints, such as available resources and performance space
- how to use appropriate performance, technical and design vocabulary when writing about drama
- how to communicate with an audience

Candidates should be able to:

- reflect on and evaluate the effectiveness of their own artistic choices as actor, director or designer
- write critically about the process of bringing a piece of drama to a finished performance
- analyse and evaluate their own performance including their contribution to the group

Performance skills

Candidates should be able to understand and demonstrate:

- a range of vocal and physical performance techniques
- effective use of performance space
- creation of role through realisation of character
- the ability to sustain role(s) throughout a performance
- the use of pacing, tension and emotional intensity in performance
- how to communicate with the audience through engaging performance
- skills in individual/solo performance
- skills in working with others in group performance
- how to improve their own performance through rehearsal and interaction

Staging and design

Learners should be aware of staging and design aspects of both scripted and devised performances. Learners should be able to discuss how design elements are integral to a dramatic production and enhance its effectiveness. Learners do not need specialist knowledge or access to specialist equipment. The examples listed here are suggested rather than prescribed ways in which candidates can demonstrate knowledge and understanding. These examples are not exhaustive.

Candidates should be aware of:

- key design areas and their contribution to a dramatic performance:
 - costume, e.g. how costume design can communicate period, style, character, status
 - set, e.g. how set design can help communicate a director's dramatic ideas
 - props, e.g. how stage properties can be a part of a set design and how the use of personal props can help actors develop their character
 - lighting, e.g. how lighting can create mood and atmosphere and contribute to transitions
 - sound, e.g. how sound can be used to create spot or atmospheric effects
 - stage space, e.g. how the use of the performance space and staging can affect an audience's reaction to a performance

From script to performance

The process of moving from script to performance refers to the theoretical and practical journey undertaken by actors, directors and designers from the initial read-through of a play script to the final performance. This might include discussion of dramatic intention and how it may be achieved, practical exploration and evaluation of ideas, and application of appropriate performance skills. This process encourages a holistic approach of learning by doing where learning comes from the activity of delivering a performance. Learners should focus on the script as a piece of drama rather than a piece of literature.

In addition to the content listed under the headings ‘Elements of practical drama’, ‘Performance skills’ and ‘Staging and design’, candidates must also study the content under the heading ‘Working with published plays’.

Working with published plays

Candidates should be able to:

- demonstrate skills in performing an extract from a published play
- understand how to bring the printed script alive on the stage, including the speaking of words and lines, the use of pause or delay, tone, character interaction, movement, timing, business, action, etc.
- understand the relationship between spoken word, facial expression, gesture and posture
- understand approaches to interpreting a published play from a director’s viewpoint
- demonstrate the ability to write about the process of bringing the script to life
- demonstrate the ability to write about the contribution of design elements to final performance

Devising original drama from a stimulus

The devising process consists of the interpretation of a stimulus from which learners develop a scenario and its characters within a dramatic structure. A key part of the process requires learners to reflect on and evaluate their contribution to the devised piece, as well as evaluate the effect of the piece on the audience.

In this syllabus, the most important characteristics of a devised dramatic performance are:

- it grows out of the exploration of a stimulus
- performers collaborate in its creation
- it is an original piece of work, which may make use of an appropriate style or genre of drama.

In addition to the content listed under the headings ‘Elements of practical drama’, ‘Performance skills’ and ‘Staging and design’, candidates must also study the content under the headings ‘Developing dramatic material through the devising process’ and ‘Working with stimuli in the devising process’.

Developing dramatic material through the devising process

Candidates should be able to:

- understand how original drama may be created
- demonstrate understanding of how to structure an original dramatic piece, including:
 - establishing a clear dramatic intention
 - creating a scenario and structure that will enable the dramatic intention to be realised
 - creating credible characters
 - using dialogue, pacing and inflections of spoken English
 - exploring the relationship between spoken word, facial gesture and bodily posture
 - using physical space effectively
 - taking or giving direction where appropriate
 - exploring how design elements can contribute to the effectiveness of the piece
- evaluate the devising process and write about it

Working with stimuli in the devising process

Candidates should be able to:

- demonstrate skills in creating performance from a dramatic stimulus
- analyse and evaluate their contribution to the devised piece
- analyse and evaluate the effect of the devised piece on the audience
- understand the devising and rehearsal processes, and be able to write about them

Examples of possible stimuli are:

- dramatic styles or genres:
 - children’s drama
 - melodrama
 - commedia dell’Arte
 - documentary theatre
 - forum theatre (Boal)
 - folk theatre
- socio-historical stimuli:
 - an issue of conscience
 - a personal issue
 - an environmental issue
- other options:
 - a piece of music or song
 - a poem
 - a sculpture or image
 - a historical figure
 - a traditional story

Dramatic and theatrical terms

Learners should become familiar with the list of terms below during their study of Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama. Understanding these terms will help learners write about drama and participate more effectively in their practical work.

The list of terms is not exhaustive. Teachers are advised to consult the Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama (0994) Glossary of dramatic and theatrical terms, published on the School Support Hub at www.cambridgeinternational.org/support. 4 Details of the assessment

This syllabus has two compulsory components:

- Component 1 – Written examination
- Component 2 – Coursework.

Component 1 has pre-release material.

Component 1 – Pre-release material

The pre-release material for Component 1 Written examination is available to centres before the exam. It is also reproduced with the question paper. Candidates must not bring any prepared material into the examinations.

Teachers should check the Cambridge Handbook for the relevant year of assessment for information on when the pre-release material will be available at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

The pre-release material will be available from the School Support Hub at www.cambridgeinternational.org/support. You will need access to the School Support Hub, our secure online site. This site is password protected. Please contact your school coordinator for instructions on how to access the School Support Hub.

It is the centre's responsibility to download the pre-release material and to provide learners with a printed copy for use during the course. Candidates may annotate this copy during the course but they may not take it into the examination with them. A clean printed copy will be provided by Cambridge International for the examination.

You must make sure you download the pre-release material for Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama (0994). The questions in Sections A and B of Component 1 will be based on the extracts from the associated pre-release material.

Component 1 – Written examination

Written paper, 2 hours 30 minutes, 80 marks

This written examination has three sections. Candidates are advised to divide their time equally between each section.

	Focus of questions	Question type	Marks
Section A	An extract from a published play. Candidates should have studied the extract and explored it as practical theatre, investigating performing and staging opportunities. The extract is supplied in the pre-release material.	Up to eight short-answer and extended-response questions. Marks per question range from 2 to 10. Candidates answer all questions	30
Section B	An extract from a different published play. Candidates should have studied the extract and explored it as practical theatre, investigating performing and staging opportunities. The extract is supplied in the pre-release material.	Candidates answer two extended-response questions. One compulsory question (10 marks) and one question from a choice of two (15 marks).	25
Section C	A devised piece that candidates have developed and performed to an audience. The pre-release material is not required for the devised piece – teachers choose the stimulus.	Two extended-response questions. Candidates answer both questions (one is worth 10 marks, the other 15 marks).	25

Please note that all written responses must be presented in English.

Component 1 – Sections A and B

The questions in Sections A and B relate to the pre-release material. The pre-release material must be downloaded from the School Support Hub. You must use the correct pre-release material for your administrative zone. You must not use the specimen pre-release material.

The pre-release material consists of two extracts, one from each of two published plays. Extracts will be selected from plays representing a range of genres, styles, countries, cultures and periods. All extracts will be in English and may include work in translation. Each extract will be of sufficient length and substance to enable candidates to demonstrate their understanding of practical approaches to performance as actor, director or designer.

Candidates will be assessed on AO1 Knowledge and understanding of repertoire. The questions will assume that candidates have explored both extracts equally, taking a practical, rehearsal-based approach that allows them to consider the plays in performance. Candidates will be expected to have familiarity with a range of practical skills and approaches used by actors, directors and designers in interpreting specific sections of the extract as a whole. Candidates will be expected to have an overview of each extract and an understanding of its general context. Candidates will not be required to show familiarity with the complete play from which each extract is taken.

Component 1 – Section C

The questions in Section C relate to an original piece of drama devised by the candidate as part of a group. The stimulus for this piece of drama is chosen by the teacher, so that it can be locally relevant and engaging for the candidates. Guidance on selecting an appropriate stimulus is provided on page 22. The devised piece that candidates choose to write about should be one that they have prepared to the same standard as the devised pieces they prepare for Component 2. For this reason, candidates may choose to answer the questions in Section C of Component 1 on the same devised piece that they submit for assessment in Component 2, or another devised piece of comparable quality, size and substance.

Candidates will be assessed on AO2 Devising original drama, assessing the candidate's ability to reflect on, analyse and evaluate the devising, rehearsing and performance of their original piece of drama. The questions in Section C will assume that candidates have performed their devised piece to an audience.

Component 1 – Sections A, B and C

In all sections of Component 1, candidates' answers should show practical and theoretical understanding of the scripted and devised pieces. The questions will cover a variety of drama skills and techniques related to devising, rehearsing, staging and performing drama, as follows:

- performing roles – including use of voice and movement skills, spatial awareness, physicality, pacing and rhythm, interaction with other performers, ways of creating character
- directing – including advising actors, developing a directorial concept or interpretation, creating mood and atmosphere, use of space and levels, communicating with the audience
- designing – including the contribution of set, props, lighting, sound, costume and make-up to a performance
- devising – including use of dialogue and gesture, development of structure, creation of dramatic tension, storytelling (making the narrative clear to the audience), characterisation, use of dramatic contrast and pace, and ensemble.

Candidates should also consider the following aspects of creating drama where appropriate in their answers:

- understanding and interpretation of the extract (Sections A and B only)
- understanding and use of the devising stimulus (Section C only)
- understanding how drama can communicate meaning to an audience
- the resources needed to produce effective drama performance
- the reasons behind the choices they have made and how successful these choices were, or could be, in performance.

Candidates should also know and understand the terms included in the Dramatic and theatrical terms (see section 3 Subject content).

Component 2 – Coursework

Practical work (performance), 120 marks

Component 2 is made up of three compulsory performances. All work must be staged in an appropriate performance space and intended for live performance to an audience.

Practical work	Duration*	Source material
Individual performance	3 minutes maximum	An extract from a published play. The extract is chosen by the teacher and must not be from the pre-release material.
Group performance (2–6 candidates)	3–5 mins per candidate; 20 minutes maximum	An extract from a published play. The extract is chosen by the teacher and must not be from the pre-release material.
Group devised piece (2–6 candidates)	3–5 mins per candidate; 20 minutes maximum	Stimulus chosen by the teacher.

* Each candidate should have broadly equal exposure (performance time) when working in a group. As a guide, each candidate should have 3–5 minutes exposure. We will allow a short overrun from the stated maximum durations when it is required to bring a piece to a clear finish.

Candidates will be assessed individually for each performance. Candidates must have the opportunity to produce more than three pieces of practical work during the course so that there is a choice of pieces to submit and their best work may be selected. Candidates may select the devised piece submitted for Component 2 as the basis for answering the questions in Section C of Component 1.

Performances must be recorded for moderation purposes, but the performances produced should not be conceived for film or television. The purpose of the video recording is to reproduce the experience of being in the audience for the moderator.

You must read the instructions ‘Video recording candidates’ work’ (on page 23) to ensure that you record candidates’ work appropriately.

This component assesses candidates’ abilities in practical work. This includes the ability to interpret published plays, to devise an original piece of drama and to perform effectively to an audience.

Individual and group performance – extracts from a published play

The individual performance requires the candidate to perform an extract from a published play that allows the candidate to demonstrate their abilities within three minutes. There is no stated minimum time, but it is likely that a performance that is significantly shorter than three minutes will be self-penalising. The group performance requires that each candidate has roughly equal exposure of about three to five minutes, depending on the size of the group and the extract being performed. The selection of the extract is important to ensure that each candidate has the opportunity to demonstrate understanding of the style of the drama and the context of their role in the play as a whole.

In both individual and group performances, candidates will be assessed individually on AO1 Knowledge and understanding of repertoire and AO3 Performance skills.

Candidates need to demonstrate their:

- practical understanding of repertoire
- performance skills
- ability to communicate effectively with an audience.

Guidance on selecting play extracts

The extracts for use in the individual and group performances, must be chosen by the teacher and be:

- taken from full-length published plays written for the stage (this may include one-act plays)
- chosen according to candidates' abilities and interests
- chosen according to available resources.

You must not use television (TV) drama, film screenplays, material taken directly from novels, unpublished works, mini-plays or monologues written specifically for use in the classroom. These will not allow the candidates to demonstrate their understanding or skills appropriately.

Candidates should not perform material taken directly from the extracts set as pre-release material for Component 1. You may choose to perform a different scene from the same plays used in the pre-release material. Candidates should not perform material taken from the same play for both their individual and group performances.

Group devised piece

The group devised piece must be one that candidates have taken through the devising and rehearsal process. The chosen piece must allow each candidate roughly equal exposure of three to five minutes, depending on the size of the group. The piece must be based on a stimulus chosen by the teacher (see Component 1 and Component 2 – Guidance on selecting stimuli on page 22). Candidates must decide collectively within their groups on the subject matter, style, characterisation, structure and intention of the piece (with teacher support). Teachers may select the same stimulus or a different stimulus for each group in the class, depending on the abilities and interests of the candidates.

Candidates will be assessed on AO2 Devising original drama and AO3 Performance skills.

They need to demonstrate their:

- ability to devise dramatically effective material from a stimulus
- ability to develop their own role within the piece
- appropriate performance skills
- ability to communicate effectively with an audience.

Use of costume and set in Component 2

Candidates are expected to wear clothes that give an indication of the character they are playing. They are not assessed specifically on their use of costume. Candidates' clothes must not conflict with the overall dramatic intention of the character they are seeking to portray, in style, period or fashion. The clothes worn by candidates should be different from their everyday dress unless appropriate to the piece. Candidates are advised not to perform in their school uniforms unless that is appropriate to the role they are playing.

The same principle applies for set, furniture and props. These elements must not undermine, or detract from, the dramatic intention of the piece, but candidates will not be assessed specifically on their use of set design.

Component 1 and Component 2 – Guidance on selecting stimuli

When answering questions on their devised piece in Component 1, candidates may choose to write about the same devised piece that they submit for Component 2, or another devised piece of comparable quality, size and substance. All devised pieces should be developed using the process described in section 3 Subject content.

Teachers must select the stimulus for each devised piece the candidates develop. They should choose stimuli that enable the candidates to:

- work as a group
- develop strong characters and narratives
- apply the content and skills as described in section 3 Subject content
- analyse and evaluate the devising process and their final performance
- meet the requirements of the assessment objectives.

The best stimuli are likely to be focused and specific rather than abstract.

See 3 Subject content for examples of possible stimuli.

The list is not exhaustive and teachers are free to use any material that is appropriate to this level of examination and that enables candidates to devise and perform to the best of their abilities. The stimuli should also be age-appropriate and not offensive in any way.

Although the teacher selects a stimulus for each group, the devised piece must be the original work of the candidates and the group must decide collectively on the subject matter, style, characterisation, structure and intention of the pieces.

Guidance for Component 2 – Coursework

Candidates should undertake coursework with the guidance and ongoing supervision of their teacher. The amount of teacher guidance will vary between individual, group scripted and group devised pieces and the needs of the candidates.

The teacher must:

- select appropriate repertoire and stimuli for candidates
- set and/or negotiate coursework tasks
- supervise the work throughout to monitor individual progress
- support, challenge, critique or direct as necessary during the process
- ensure that the work is completed according to the requirements of the syllabus and that it can be assessed in line with the assessment criteria and procedures
- assess the live performance of the work using the assessment criteria on pages 26 to 28 in accordance with the guidance given on page 24.

The teacher may:

- challenge candidates on their use of ideas and the crafting of the drama
- act as director for the group performance of the piece of repertoire.

It is recommended that teachers provide time for learners to record their progress, and to evaluate the success of their practical choices and the approaches they have taken.

Video recording candidates' work

The centre must record (make a digital video recording of) all practical work undertaken during the course in order to be able to select each candidate's best work for the final assessment; it is advisable to keep back-up copies of all recordings in case of files being lost or corrupted.

Identifying the candidates

It is essential that the Cambridge International moderator can easily identify the candidates dressed as they will appear in the pieces. At the beginning of each performance, the candidate must identify himself/herself clearly by stating his/her name and candidate number (if known at time of recording). The teacher should also provide notes on the Individual Candidate Mark Sheet to help identify the candidate (see 'Submitting candidates' marks and work').

Quality of recordings

It is essential to produce clear recorded evidence. In particular:

- position cameras level with the performance space, and so that the whole action can be clearly seen
- each candidate must be clearly visible and easily identified by the external moderator
- avoid zooming in and out, as this can be distracting
- the camera should be static, not hand-held
- avoid panning to follow performers
- avoid extraneous noise and echo, as this makes it difficult to hear the candidates
- the soundtrack must be clearly audible
- the recording should not be stopped and re-started once the performance has begun.

The centre should re-record any work that does not meet the above standards.

Marking

Each candidate's work must be marked by the teacher according to the assessment criteria provided in this syllabus. Marks are awarded for each candidate as follows:

- AO1 Knowledge and understanding of repertoire – a mark for the individual performance and a mark for the group performance
- AO2 Devising original drama – a mark for the group devised piece
- AO3 Performance skills – a separate mark for each of the three performances.

Guidance on using levels-based mark schemes

Marking of work should be positive, rewarding achievement where possible, but clearly differentiating across the whole range of marks, where appropriate.

The marker should look at the work and then make a judgement about which level statement is the best fit. In practice, work does not always match one level statement precisely so a judgement may need to be made between two or more level statements.

For each candidate and for each assessment objective, start at the bottom of the grid and work upwards until you reach the level statements that most closely match the quality of the candidate's performance. Use a 'best fit' approach, settling on the level statement that you are confident most fully describes the candidate's performance as a whole. Then check the level statements in the level above to confirm that the candidate has not done enough to be awarded a mark from that level.

Once a best-fit level statement has been identified, use the following guidance to decide on a specific mark:

- If the candidate's work convincingly meets the level statements, award the highest mark.
- If the candidate's work adequately meets the level statements, award the most appropriate mark in the middle of the range (where middle marks are available).
- If the candidate's work just meets the level statements, award the lowest mark.

If you are unsure which mark to award, always choose the higher one.

Always assess the live performance of the work rather than the video recording. Make notes during the performance relating to the relevant two assessment objectives for each piece.

To justify the marks that have been awarded, the teacher needs to provide sufficient evidence in the Individual Candidate Mark Sheet (see Submitting candidates' marks and work). The comments must be specific and refer to how particular aspects of the candidate's performance meet the assessment criteria.

External moderation

Cambridge International will externally moderate all internally assessed components.

- You must submit the marks of all candidates to Cambridge International.
- You must also submit the marked work of a sample of candidates to Cambridge International.

The sample you submit to Cambridge International should include examples of the marking of each teacher. The samples database at www.cambridgeinternational.org/samples explains how the sample will be selected. The samples database also provides details of how to submit the marks and work.

External moderators will produce a short report for each centre with feedback on your marking and administration of the assessment.

Internal moderation

If more than one teacher in your centre is marking internal assessments, you must make arrangements to moderate or standardise your teachers' marking so that all candidates are assessed to a common standard. (If only one teacher is marking internal assessments, no internal moderation is necessary.) You can find further information on the process of internal moderation on the samples database at www.cambridgeinternational.org/samples. The sample of candidate work that is submitted to Cambridge International should include examples of marking from each teacher that marks the internal assessment.

You should record the internally moderated marks for all candidates on the Individual Candidates Mark Sheet (see Submitting candidates' marks and work) and submit these marks to Cambridge International according to the instructions set out in the Cambridge Handbook (www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide) for the relevant year of assessment.

Submitting candidates' marks and work

Please refer to the samples database at www.cambridgeinternational.org/samples for information, dates and methods of submission of candidates' marks and work.

Centres must send the following to Cambridge International with the sample of work for moderation:

- Individual Candidate Mark Sheet (0994/ICMS) for all candidates, including those not in the sample; the marks on this form must be the same as the marks you submit to Cambridge International
- Group devised piece cover sheet.

All of these forms and the instructions for completing them should be downloaded from www.cambridgeinternational.org/samples each year, to make sure you have the most up-to-date instructions. The database will ask you for the syllabus code (i.e. 0994) and your centre number, after which it will take you to the correct forms. Follow the instructions on the form itself when completing each form.

The Individual Candidate Mark Sheet (0994/ICMS) is required to provide details of the three performances selected for final assessment and the marks awarded for each. You should enter candidates' marks for Component 2 on this form. Teachers should provide sufficiently detailed comments to support the marks awarded. The marks on this form must be identical to the marks you submit to Cambridge International.

The Group devised piece cover sheet is required to provide summary information for the moderator about group composition, roles played and the context/stimulus of the material presented.

Please keep at the centre:

- one complete set of copies of the forms
- all other recorded work.

All records and supporting work should be kept until after the publication of results, and the recordings of all other candidates' work should be kept at the centre. Further samples of work may be requested by Cambridge International.

5 What else you need to know

This section is an overview of other information you need to know about this syllabus. It will help to share the administrative information with your exams officer so they know when you will need their support. Find more information about our administrative processes at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Before you start

Previous study

We do not expect learners starting this course to have previously studied drama.

Guided learning hours

We design Cambridge IGCSE syllabuses to require about 130 guided learning hours for each subject. This is for guidance only. The number of hours a learner needs to achieve the qualification may vary according to each school and the learners' previous experience of the subject.

Availability and timetables

Both components for this syllabus are available in the June and November series.

All Cambridge schools are allocated to one of six administrative zones. Each zone has a specific timetable.

This syllabus is not available in all administrative zones. To find out about availability check the syllabus page at www.cambridgeinternational.org/igcse

You can view the timetable for your administrative zone at www.cambridgeinternational.org/timetables

You can enter candidates in the June and November exam series.

Check you are using the syllabus for the year the candidate is taking the exam.

Private candidates cannot enter for this syllabus. For more information, please refer to the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries.

Combining with other syllabuses

Candidates can take this syllabus alongside other Cambridge International syllabuses in a single exam series. The only exceptions are:

- Cambridge IGCSE Drama (0411)
- syllabuses with the same title at the same level.

Cambridge IGCSE, Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) and Cambridge O Level syllabuses are at the same level.

Making entries

Exams officers are responsible for submitting entries to Cambridge International. We encourage them to work closely with you to make sure they enter the right number of candidates for the right combination of syllabus components. Entry option codes and instructions for submitting entries are in the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries. Your exams officer has a copy of this guide.

Exam administration

To keep our exams secure, we produce question papers for different areas of the world, known as administrative zones. We allocate all Cambridge schools to an administrative zone determined by their location. Each zone has a specific timetable. Some of our syllabuses offer candidates different assessment options. An entry option code is used to identify the components the candidate will take relevant to the administrative zone and the available assessment options.

Pre-release material

This syllabus has pre-release material.

You must check the Cambridge Handbook for the year candidates are taking the assessment for information on when the pre-release material will be available and where to access the material, at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

You must access the School Support Hub, our secure online site, at www.cambridgeinternational.org/support

The site is password protected. Please contact your school coordinator for instructions on how to access the School Support Hub.

Support for exams officers

We know how important exams officers are to the successful running of exams. We provide them with the support they need to make your entries on time. Your exams officer will find this support, and guidance for all other phases of the Cambridge Exams Cycle, at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Estimated entries

Information about making estimated entries can be found in the Cambridge Handbook for the relevant year.

Retakes and carrying forward marks

Candidates can retake the whole qualification as many times as they want to. This is a linear qualification so candidates cannot re-sit individual components. Information on retake entries is at www.cambridgeinternational.org/retakes

Marks achieved in Component 2 can be carried forward to future series, subject to the requirements set out in the Cambridge Handbook at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Language

This syllabus and the related assessment materials are available in English only.

Accessibility and equality

Syllabus and assessment design

Cambridge International works to avoid direct or indirect discrimination. We develop and design syllabuses and assessment materials to maximise inclusivity for candidates of all national, cultural or social backgrounds and candidates with protected characteristics; these protected characteristics include special educational needs and disability, religion and belief, and characteristics related to gender and identity. In addition, the language and layout used are designed to make our materials as accessible as possible. This gives all candidates the fairest possible opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, skills and understanding and helps to minimise the requirement to make reasonable adjustments during the assessment process.

Access arrangements

Access arrangements (including modified papers) are the principal way in which Cambridge International complies with our duty, as guided by the UK Equality Act (2010), to make ‘reasonable adjustments’ for candidates with special educational needs (SEN), disability, illness or injury. Where a candidate would otherwise be at a substantial disadvantage in comparison to a candidate with no SEN, disability, illness or injury, we may be able to agree pre-examination access arrangements. These arrangements help a candidate by minimising accessibility barriers and maximising their opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, skills and understanding in an assessment.

Important:

- Requested access arrangements should be based on evidence of the candidate’s barrier to assessment and should also reflect their normal way of working at school; this is in line with the Cambridge Handbook www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide
- For Cambridge International to approve an access arrangement, we will need to agree that it constitutes a reasonable adjustment, involves reasonable cost and timeframe and does not affect the security and integrity of the assessment.
- Availability of access arrangements should be checked by centres at the start of the course. Details of our standard access arrangements and modified question papers are available in the Cambridge Handbook www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide
- Please contact us at the start of the course to find out if we are able to approve an arrangement that is not included in the list of standard access arrangements.
- Candidates who cannot access parts of the assessment may be able to receive an award based on the parts they have completed.

After the exam

Grading and reporting

Grades 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 or 1 indicate the standard a candidate achieved at Cambridge IGCSE (9–1).

9 is the highest and 1 is the lowest. ‘Ungraded’ means that the candidate’s performance did not meet the standard required for grade 1. ‘Ungraded’ is reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

In specific circumstances your candidates may see one of the following letters on their statement of results:

- Q (PENDING)
- X (NO RESULT).

These letters do not appear on the certificate.

On the statement of results and certificates, Cambridge IGCSE is shown as INTERNATIONAL GENERAL CERTIFICATE OF SECONDARY EDUCATION (IGCSE).

How students and teachers can use the grades

Assessment at Cambridge IGCSE has two purposes:

- 1 to measure learning and achievement
The assessment confirms achievement and performance in relation to the knowledge, understanding and skills specified in the syllabus, to the levels described in the grade descriptions.
- 2 to show likely future success
The outcomes help predict which students are well prepared for a particular course or career and/or which students are more likely to be successful.
The outcomes help students choose the most suitable course or career.

Grade descriptions

Grade descriptions are provided to give an indication of the standards of achievement candidates awarded particular grades are likely to show. Weakness in one aspect of the examination may be balanced by a better performance in some other aspect.

Grade descriptions for Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) Drama will be published after the first assessment of the syllabus in 2025.
