

Carry forward of results: Cambridge International AS & A Level Design & Technology (9705) for examination in 2025

Cambridge International AS & A Level Design & Technology (9705) has been revised for first assessment in 2025.

Due to the revision of the qualification, there are some changes to carry forward options available for assessment in 2025 only. These are summarised below.

Assessment in 2025

Candidates will be able to carry forward their AS Level marks (Paper 1 and Component 2) to complete the A Level in 2025.

For example:

- An AS Level from the June 2024 series can be carried forward to complete the A Level in the June 2025 series.
- An AS Level from the November 2024 series can be carried forward to complete the A Level in the June 2025 series or the November 2025 series.

Candidates will not separately be able to carry forward the marks they achieve in 2024 for coursework (Component 2 or Component 4). They will only be allowed to carry forward Component 2 coursework marks from 2024 when they are carried forward as part of a complete AS Level. This is to ensure that candidates have covered the content and assessment objectives required for progression to A Level.

Candidates will be able to carry forward an AS Level from the June 2025 series to complete the A Level in November 2025. This AS Level will have been assessed according to the revised version of the 9705 syllabus. Candidates will separately be able to carry forward the marks they achieve in 2025 for coursework components. This coursework will have been assessed according to the revised version of the 9705 syllabus.

Assessment in 2026

Candidates will be able to carry forward their AS Level marks (Paper 1 and Component 2) to complete the A Level in 2026. These AS Level components will have been assessed according to the revised version of the 9705 syllabus.

Candidates will separately be able to carry forward the marks they achieve in 2025 for coursework components. This coursework will have been assessed according to the revised version of the 9705 syllabus.

It will not be possible to carry forward any marks assessed according to the pre-revision version of the syllabus into 2026.
